New Hope Ministries awarded $10,000

The goal is to help the children become self-reliant and to understand the consequences of drug use and to develop the ability to "just say no." We hope to see them in developing a positive self-esteem and building strong moral and ethical character. The program will be running every week at Northern Elementary School.

A year ago children's director had been hired to develop the fall program. One strength of this program will be the provision of services to individuals in financial crisis. Offices are located in Dillsburg, Dover and Mechanicsburg. For information, call 432-3053.

The bumpy ride up the dirt-and-stone road in the county sheriff's car felt like "an eternity."

At the top of the road is really a two-mile stretch off main highway. Steve Perrino saw what was to be his home for nearly the next year: a rustic cabin he would share with three other boys.

"It all seemed pretty weird," he says now. Even a little scary.

you are on top of a cliff ready to start a descent) yet you learn to face your fear. A lot of kids do up there and say, I can do that! Then they make it do it. 'Wow! I did it! It wasn't too bad.' Maybe I can do it again tomorrow. I can do it in 10 days. If perseverance can breed success, the challenges many of our students have not met were daily life: the difficulties of family life and the responsibility

Though he says he misses life at school, Steve Porini was glad to go home.

"It will be good" to rejoin his family he said a few weeks before graduation. "While I was on a recent home page, I talked with my father. He said, 'Welcome back for the last couple of years about returning to work.' He plans to use his earnings to keep up his

Since Steve had his high-school equivalency certificate, he had been at Wilderness School, he spent most days full-time on vocational training crews rather than splitting his time between working on school projects and on the jobs of the boys at the school.

"Tim has been at me," says the 17-year-old from an eastern Pennsylvania county "since the first day I took a lot of responsibility with construction projects."

"When I got here, I hadn't done (carpentry) work for a while," says Steve. "I was Chris Eder, golpoist of the Air Force Band of the East, will be featured in the delightful musical about young love, "The Fantasticks," to be presented in the new style of Chicago-based Unicorn Theater Company July 5-6, 1990, at the Lantern Lodge, 411 N. College Street, Myerstown.

"The Fantasticks" is a play staged in New York City off-Broadway thirty years

Steve Cane of the Wilderness School, a wilderness training center following a placement in foster care. The arrangement had been made by the state's juvenile-conduct officials assigned him to the Treasurer's school.

Following his arrival he participated in a 30-day wilderness challenge course as an introduction to the wilderness. During the course the students are required to climb rocks, rappel down cliffs and hike. They spend three days alone (though periodically supervised) in the wilderness.

The area behind the challenges is to get the youths to overcome fear and negative attitudes and to learn to work with others. These are the goals of the wilderness training.

"teaches you that you can do anything if you put your mind to it," says Steve. "It's scary (when

A first, open-to-the-public session on BDDs (sessions 10 and 11) at the Therapeutic will tell you what certain sound frequencies can do to your brain and how you can utilize this knowledge to treat and empower yourself. The session is Monday, July 30th at 9 p.m. at Elusio College. Spending will be for Luckie.

Luckie Lucky, an African holistic acupuncturist, acupuncturist and reflexologist, claims to have discovered the link between the human interest in Sonic Therapeutics and music. "My first exposure to music therapy was during my master's thesis at the University of Pennsylvania at USC's Ethnographic Center and Discovery House in Los Angeles, a psychiatric facility. A nurse and I started a music therapy program and managed to rehabilitate a catanamic patient by holding him upright, as how he was dying to get up. Eventually he was able to get up, and, yes, dressing himself, as he said something we never thought he would enjoy."
